Death of Professor Bache.

The great loss of a public servant so eminent for his services and virtues as Alexander Dallas Bache, LL. D., superintendent of the United States Coast Survey, is alleviated by the fact that death relieved him from almost incredible suffering. He died at Newport, Rhode Island, on Sunday morning, in the 61st year of his age, after lingering for months under the affliction known as softening of the brain. Speaking of the deceased, the Washington Chronicle remarks:

His life was one long tribute to his country and to the cause of education and science.—Born in Philadelphia, in April, 1806, he entered the Military Academy in 1821, and graduated as a second lieutenant of engineers July 6th, 1825. He served as assistant professor of engineering from August, 1825, to July, 1826, and resigned his commission June 6th, 1829. He had previously commenced his distinguished career as professor of natural chemistry in the University of Pennsylvania, which continued from September, 1828, to July, 1836. Afterwards he was elected President of Girard College which important post he held from 1836 to 1841, when he was again chosen to his old position in the University. From this he was called to organize that splendid institution, which stands among the noblest monuments of his fame, the High school of Philadelphia. He served as its principal until 1852, shortly after which he was appointed superintendent of the United States Coast Survey, which he filled with rare distinction to himself and usefulness to his country down to the day of his death.—No American has ever been more honored by his own and foreign governments. He was a member of the light-house board and regent of the Smithsonian Institution, and was elected doctor of laws by the University of New York in 1836, doctor of laws by the University of Pennsylvania in 1837, doctor of laws by the Harvard University in 1851, and President of the National Academy of Sciences.

He was a member of the Royal Society, London; Imperial Academy of Sciences, St. Petersburg; Institute of France; Royal Society of Edinburgh; Royal and Imperial Geographical Society, Vienna; Royal Academy, Turin; Mathematical Society, Hamburg; Academy of Science Institute, of Bologna; Royal Astronomical Society, London; Royal Irish Academy, Dublin, &c., and of all leading scientific bodies in the United States.

The foreign medals awarded to him were as follows: Gold (Victoria) medal from the New Royal Geographical Society of Great Britain, May 24, 1858 for acceptable labors in carrying out the great coast survey of the United States. Gold medal from the King of Sardinia, January 14, 1859, for scientific merit as exemplified in the publication of the United States Coast Survey. Gold medal from the King of Sweden, February 27, 1855, as a mark of high satisfaction afforded by the coast survey charts. Cross of Dannebrog, (Danish) November 11, 1856, for services in the general field of science.

The coast survey under the influence of Prof. Bache, has become one of the departments of our great Republic.

Artemus Ward's Threshing Machine.

My wife's a exceedingly practical woman. I luv her muchly, however, and humor her little ways. It's a reckless falsehood that she benpecks me, and the young man in our neighborhood who said to me as I was distending my distrum with a gentlemen with a gentle cocktail at the village tavern—who said to me in these very langwidge, "Go home, old man, onless you wish another tea pot throwed at you by B. J.," probly regrets having said so. I said, "Betsy Jane is my wife's front name, gentle youth, and I permit no person to alood to her as B. J., outside of the family circle, of which I am it principally myself. Your other observations I scorn and disgust, and I must polish you off." He was a able-bodied young man, and removin' his coat, he inquired if I wanted to be ground to powder? I said yes, it there was a powder grindist handy, nothing would ford me greater pleasure, when he struck me a painful blow into my right eye, causin me to make a rapid retreat into the fireplace.

I hadn't no idea that the enemy was so well organized. But I rallied and went for him in a rather virgis style for my time of life. His parents lived near by, and I will simply state that fifteen minutes had only elapsed after the first hit, when he was carried home on a shutter. His mamma met the sollum procession at the door, and after keerfully lookin her offspring over, she said: "My son, I see how it is distinctually. You've been foolin round a thrashin macheen. You went in at the place whar they put the grain into the thingamyjig, and let the bosses tread on you, didn't my son?" The pen of no livin orthor could describe that disfortunit young man's sitivation more clearer. But I was sorry for him, and I went and nussed him till he got well. His reg'lar original father had been sent to the war. I told him I'd be a father to him myself. He smilt a sickly smile, and said I'd already been wuss than two fathers to him.

OBJECTION 1.
I'M TOO POOR; I CAN'T AFFORD IT.
ANSWER.
If you are too poor to save less than half a dollar per week, at from 20 to 35 years of age, or proportionately at other ages, and find it so difficult to do so—should you be taken away by death, how bitterly poverty will strike home to your widow and children, or those dependent on you? Is it not worth a struggle to avoid this, and give them at least $1,000 by paying so small a sum? It costs just $2,00 per month to insure $1,000 at the age of 32 years.

OBJECTION 2.
I've talked to several of my friends, and they all advise me to have nothing to do with it.
ANSWER.
Will your friends undertake to provide for those you leave behind, in case you do not live long enough to save money? Ask them, and be guided by their answer.

OBJECTION 3.
I can't make up my mind; call again.
ANSWER.
Your other objections have been answered. I appeal to your own common sense to answer this for yourself, aided by

THREE PRACTICAL REFLECTIONS.

FIRST.—Nothing is so uncertain as Life.
SECOND.—No provision is perfect that is contingent upon the duration of your Life, which is not immediate.
THIRD.—The only immediate provision is that provided by Life Insurance.

The Fall Session of this Institution closed 23rd. day of December. The Spring Session opened the 1st. Wednesday in January, and will continue 20 weeks.

The success of this school has been without a parallel. A new building has just been completed, by which a large additional number can be accommodated. We are determined to make our pupils as comfortable as they can be made anywhere, and to afford them all the advantage for a thorough and extensive education, that can be found at any First class Female College, North or south.

The location is a most delightful one. The Mineral Water is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. Even invalid young ladies may secure a thorough education, and at the same time the restoration of their health. Reference is made to every intelligent Physician in the State, as well as to the hundreds who have found relief here.

The young ladies all worship in the College Chapel, and hence no extra clothing is required. In the single item of dress parents can save 25 per cent. of the entire expense incurred by sending to Boarding Schools located in cities or villages. This Institution is certainly one of the cheapest and most easy of access in the Southern States. Besides, it offers the most superior advantages in every respect.

A PROPOSITION.
IN WHICH YOU ARE INTERESTED.

I PROPOSE for the protection of the citizens of Raleigh and surrounding country, against the imposition of these so-called Cost Stores, to furnish each and every person, the New York Cost of any goods they may want to buy; by this means they can tell whether they are buying goods at Cost or paying a profit on them.

Call before going to any of those Cost Stores so-called, and let me give you a memorandum of Cost prices.

Most of my large stock I will sell at cost but I have goods that I will not sell in that way, and neither will those merchants who make such a flourish about selling at Cost.

No merchant in this place has purchased his Goods any cheaper than I bought mine. Any assertion to the contrary is false; and I will guarantee to sell Goods as low as any Cost House. All I ask is an opportunity to prove the truthfulness of this assertion.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, } Editors.
SEATON GALES. }

Saturday Evening, Feb. 23, 1867.

A Chat with the 'Register."

Loyalty is an active principle as well as treason. It consists of devotion to, love for, the government of the United States. Now we are willing to make this bargain with the Sentinel: for every man they will find in the so called State of North Carolina who will declare and manifest an actual and honest love for the stars and stripes, we will find five who "cuss" the "Yankee government," more or less, every day of their lives.—Union Register.

The Register fails to meet our points. We admit that loyalty is an active principle, and that it demands exhibition by incontestible acts of loyalty. These are, obedience, respect or reverence and support. Now we accept the proposition of the Register, to show one loyal man in North Carolina among the so-called rebels, to its five disloyal, or vice versa, if it please. The "stars and stripes," we regard as the emblem simply of the national sovereignty. We think respect is due that flag, but are incapable of understanding how any one can "manifest an actual and honest love for the stars and stripes," or how such a manifestation can afford any proper proof of true loyalty. We have heard soldiers and sailors speak in terms of devotion and admiration of the "old flag," which we could not appreciate, never having been either; but when we heard of men, either soldiers or sailors, fighting under that flag in defence of the Constitution of the United States and the government, then we could understand and appreciate their loyalty. At other times we have supposed that the emotions excited by the floating of the flag, was simple enthusiasm excited by its associations. Hence, we conclude that there is no such thing as manifesting "an actual and honest love" for the flag, and that the man who says he thus loves the flag is simply mistaken, if he do not love and would not fight to defend and support the constitution of the United States.

Now, in North Carolina, there is an innate, inborn love, admiration and devotion to the principles of the Constitution of the United States. The "rebellion" fierce as it was, did not extinguish that love among our people.—Hence the readiness with which they returned to their fealty and fidelity to the government, when the results of the war convinced them, that disunion was impossible. Now let the Register bring forward in good faith its disloyal men. Where is the respectable man who does not obey the laws and the Constitution, who does not readily pay his taxes in support of government according to his ability, and who does not respect the government and love the Constitution? To make admiration of or real affection for a flag or for its stars and stripes, a test of loyalty, would be demanding a mere ideal proof of loyalty, and which must always depend upon the fancies or circumstances of men. A soldier or sailor who fought under it, might feel an emotion akin to it, but to others it might be impossible. But the principles of the Constitution and government, whose sovereignty the flag represents, are proper objects of love and admiration. There is something tangible in them, and we hold that no people in the Union are more devoted to those principles than the people of North Carolina.

Sovereignty is not that attribute of the government that excites love and affection for it.—It may excite admiration, reverence and fear, but not love. Displays of the Divine sovereignty excite no love in mortal beings. Wonder, admiration, awe and fear are excited, but no sinner feels love for God until he appreciates the displays of the Divine love, placability, kindness, forgiveness or mercy towards his erring creatures. So it is with governments towards the governed. Love for a government, per se, is, therefore, no test of loyalty, unless it includes obedience, &c., since it can only exist in the governed, when he is satisfied the government loves him, and shows mercy, kindness and forgiveness towards him, and full protection.

The Register's idea of loyalty is, therefore, totally at fault, as is also its clap-trap about "conciliation." We have shown that love to a government can not be excited by the displays of its sovereignty or power, unless its power be displayed in acts of kindness or protection.—"Conciliation" will excite a correspondent feeling in the recipient. Human nature cannot feel love or friendship towards any being or power who does not exhibit love or friendship towards it; and the Southern people could not at heart feel love for those who had sought their destruction, until the strong party begun to show pity, commiseration and love for them. And the history of the Southern people at the close of the war affords a most striking illustration of the truth of this. No three men at the North were more heartily disliked, hated, if you please, at the South, than Mr. Seward, Mr. Greeley and President Johnson. But just so soon as they began to evince humanity, placability, and a feeling of confidence towards the Southern people, how changed the feeling? And so it would have been towards the Congress, if that body had shown any spirit of forbearance and kindness towards our people. Nay, more. The only possible way in which the Republican party can ever secure the regard, co operation and support of the Southern people, is by a change of its policy towards us, and the exhibition of a kindly, forgiving spirit.

But the Register wants security. The South has given the strongest proof which any people can give, of their readiness to abandon forever, all hostility to the North. But the North has been implacable and treated all that we have done, as affording no proof of our sincerity.—Confidence, begets confidence and love. If the North will not believe us; how can we confide in it?

Relief for Southern States.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18—The committee appointed by the Southern Relief Association to distribute the funds raised by the late fair and by voluntary contributions have made a statement of their proceedings. From the estimate it appears the association put into possession of the committee the sum total of $124,743.38

There has been distributed by the committee, including all the appropriations made at each of their meetings, an aggregate amount of $68,738, up to the 16th of February, 1867. This has been distributed as follows: In the State of Virginia $13,782; Mississippi, $9,140; North Carolina, $6,995; South Carolina $7,620; Missouri $7,778; Georgia $5,240; Alabama $3,613; Tennessee $2,450; Arkansas $2,730; Louisiana $1,646; Cherokees and Chocktaws, $2,127; Maryland $3,000; Florida $1,700; Texas $500; Kentucky $75. The general distribution by the ladies' executive committee was $6,081.

It is perhaps proper, that we should add to the above, for the information of our friends in Missouri, that if any portion of the above named $6,995, has been sent to North Carolina, no knowledge of it has reached the Executive of the State, nor have we seen any allusion to it in any portion of the State.—Editors Sentinel.

THE BLACKS.—The Richmond Dispatch takes the position that although the blacks are all enfranchised who are 21 years of age &c., by the Sherman bill, that they nevertheless are not entitled to seats in the State Convention, to be called. We do not see this as our cotemporary, does. There is certainly no prohibition in the bill, and we had come to the conclusion, that there is a good chance to elect about one third of the delegates to the Convention authorized by the bill, from among our black population. There are a number of our colored friends in the State, whom many would prefer to those who have white skins but black hearts.

QUERY.—How much more adequate protection for life or property now exists in Tennessee, then in the ten other States placed under military rule by Mr. Sherman's bill? Can any one show that the state of things is one whit better, if half as good as in North Carolina?—Or is it because a good many more rebels are killed and mistreated in that State, than in the others?

Mr. Sherman's Bill.

The following is a correct copy of the Sherman substitute as it passed both Houses, as we find it in our exchanges:

Whereas no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and republican State governments can be legally established; therefore

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts, and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama, and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

SECTION 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President, to assign to the command of each of said districts, an officer of the army not below the rank of brigadier-general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish, or cause to be punished, all disturbers of the public peace, and criminals; and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders; or, when in his judgment it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose; and all interference under color of State authority with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district; and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act except in so far as they conflict with its provisions; Provided, That no sentence of death under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

SEC. 5 And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitutional government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State twenty one years old and upward, of whatever race, color, or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for election of delegates; and when said constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates, and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same, and when said State, by a vote of its Legislature elected under said Constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen, and when said article shall have become a part of the Constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and senators and representatives shall be admitted therefrom on their taking the oath prescribed by law, and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this bill shall be inoperative in said State: Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a Constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of said convention.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil governments which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control, or supercede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none other, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the 5th section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under any such provisional governments, who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the 3rd article of said constitutional amendment.

We also append the third section of the Howard amendment, which is necessary to a proper interpretation of the above act:

SEC. 3. No person shall be a Senator or representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an officer of the United States, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constituton of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

IN SEASON.—A day or two since two ladies from the country, on a shopping excursion to the city, dropping into a hardware store, where agricultural implements were sold. They had been reading the advertisement and innocently asked for "cradles." The storekeeper said it was rather late in the season for the article, and he had sold all of his stock. The ladies looked at each other, wonderingly, and whispered laughingly, when one turned to the storekeeper and remarked; "Out of season, I thought babies were always in season!"—Montgomery Mail.

Good Suggestions.

MR. YATES:—With your premission I desire to call the attention of our farmers, and even the citizens of our towns and villages, to the importance of devoting some of their attention and lands to the cultivation of all the varieties of fine fruits; and as the season for transplanting is now near at hand, and the importance of the subject not properly understood or appreciated by our people, the space occupied by this article may not be entirely lost upon your readers.

It is beyond doubt that the great question of our day here in the South, how to secure the most profitable yield with the least labor. Looking at the emigration of our colored population from this point to the South and West at the present time, it strikes me that the day for raising cotton profitably, or to any great extent, in our latitude has passed away; and it becomes the men, and women too, who feel an interest in the future growth and prosperity of our dear old State, to look around and see if with the labor of one or two hands properly diversified, they may not be made to secure as great a return as double the number under our old system of labor.

Now I propose to demonstrate that there is no crop cultivated by our farmers, which, for the time, attention and land required, with equal fruit in cheapness of production and richness of yield. Take for instance ten acres in apple trees, which about thirty (30) feet apart will give fifty (50) trees per acre, or 500 trees on the ten acres. After the fifth or sixth year, and for a year or two longer, it would be safe to calculate upon an average of two bushels per tree; and after, say eight years, five bushels per tree; which, at one dollar per bushel, and five bushels per tree, would be twenty five bushels, or $2500—the return for ten acres. But if it is objected that the yield will not average five bushels, then take half that amount, and it is $1250. Now what other ten acres of the farm in ordinary crops, with the utmost care and labor, will render such a profitable return.

Next, I will take ten acres in Peach trees—planted 17 feet apart each way (a very good distance for Peaches) will be 150 trees per acre, or 1500 on the ten acres, which, after the fourth year, will yield an average of one bushel per tree—fifteen hundred bushels at $100—$1500, on ten acres devoted to Peaches. Now admitting that we only realize a crop every other year, yet with our facilities for marketing all our surplus fruit, instead of one dollar per bushel, (the price rated at here,) shipped to the Northern markets, it would be safe to estimate the price at five dollars per bushel after paying expenses—for by cultivating mainly the early varieties, they could be marketed North without any competition except from the States South of this, so that five dollars per bushel would be a safe calculation, as the price never descends below that figure until the New Jersey markets commence sending their crops forward. Now, at that price, if only a crop is gathered every third year it would be an average of one dollar 66⅔ cents per bushel per annum, or at the rate of $2500 per year from the ten acres in Peaches.

Again, let us see what might be with safety expected from ten acres in Grape Vines—planted 6 feet apart each way will give a few over 1200 vines per acre, or 12,000 to ten acres, and after the fourth year an average of 250 gallons of grape juice, for making into wine, may be relied on, which is 2500 gallons on the ten acres, worth in the Northern market $2 to 2½ per gallon, with no more trouble to press than cider, and amounting at the lowest price ($2 per gallon) to $5,000 as the return of ten acres properly planted in vines. I have intentionally put the yield low, for after the sixth or eighth year an acre ought in good seasons to give 5 to 800 gallons per acre, and this last result (800 gallons) has been realized in Virginia, without any extra care or attention.

The ground in the orchard, both Apple and Peach, ought to be cultivated, until the trees shade so much that it will not pay, in Corn, Tobacco, Sweet or Irish Potatoes, or Peanuts—the two last the best—and afterwards simply ploughed once or twice a year, not too near the trees and very shallow, just to turn under the weeds, or they might be seeded down in grass.

In the above list of fruits I have not mentioned the Pear, which is now more profitably cultivated North, owing to the high price it commands, than perhaps any other variety of orchard fruits; nor yet the smaller fruits, which, on account of their extremely profitable return, have been made a specialty by many of the Northern market gardeners; but have attempted to draw attention to those named as better known and in more general use in our section of the State than others, which, though not so common, might by proper cultivation be rendered equally as profitable.

Yours truly.

For the Sentinel.

The North Carolina Railroad.

A word in reply to my quondam "friend," Josiah Turner, Jr.:

I did not expect to "excite" Mr. Turner. I thought coolness his chief characteristic. But, my facts and figures manifestly hurt. Hinc illa lachryma. As a friend says: "Josiah breathes long and hard." He talk of "personalities!" Personalities have been his meat and drink.

It was unnecessary to quote a long decision of the Supreme Court to prove that it was wrong for contractors to cheat the State. This was a vain parade of authority to bolster up a weak and sinking cause.

Mr. Turner ventures to question only one of my statements. He had not heard of the scenes of "rowdyism and obscenity" alluded to; and wonders why I did not report to the Board.—It is no part of my business to report to his Board. But if Mr. Turner had been alive to the interests of his Board, he could have learned all the facts. The President, and at least three Directors knew the particulars.

When Mr. Turner comes to "personalities," he is more happy. Here he is at home. Some of his personal slings are good. I yield to him in political consistency. Fighting the Yankees four years in the field (rather than at home,) and four months residence at Fort Delaware, instead of running for Congress, have had some effect, I frankly confess, in modifying my notions of party. Whenever I return to politics I shall, after all, try and follow my illustrious leader—J. T., jr. And I promise this besides: If he fails to get into Congress and must have an office, I will propose to get up, for his benefit, a voluntary mission to the Spice Islands.—We will send him forth to preach the gospel of manners and morals to the stupid Dutch.—He will, I know, leave with regret the groves of Orange, the scenes of his early and successful political tilting, but, with his "occupation gone." I think he could not decline a mission to the distant but fragrant realms of All Spice and Sour-Krout.

So much for Mr. Turner.

Mr. Webb tells me that I do both him and the Company injustice in the general statement, that "a large proportion of the freight and telegraphing is free." I still insist that the Board pays for a vast deal of telegraphing that ought to be charged to other parties. But Mr. Webb has satisfied me that I was in error in regard to free freights. They have on the Road, a system of refunding money on "bills for overcharges," which is susceptible of great abuse. But Mr. W. assures me I am mistaken as to the extent of the evil, and that he is gradually correcting it.

He also says that both his fares and freights are lower than those on the Virginia and South Carolina Roads. This may, or may not, be so. The confusion of the whole system of tariffs on this Road, is what I most object to.

Harrison deceased, died at the residence of her son in Caswell Co., on the 4th. instant in the 90th. year of her age. She was a native of Granville Co., but after her marriage removed to Caswell. She was the mother of S. S. Harrison Esq., who during several sessions very faithfully and efficiently represented Caswell Co., in the General Assembly of the State. For forty years sister Harrison was a member of the M. E. He suffered for months from an attack of Paralysis having been attacked on the 15th. of May last—occasionally rallied and then declining. A few weeks previous to his death his sufferings were intense, yet he bore all with Christian patience and resignation. He conversed freely during his last and fatal decline.

He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South in 1845 and continued in its communion during the remainder of his life. He was remarkable for his integrity and fidelity in all his business transactions and if "an honest man is the noblest work of God," no fuller exhibition of such a man could be found than our departed brother.

Our Saturday Morning Dispatches.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.

The veto of Sherman's substitute is expected on Monday.

Gen. Sickles has passed through en route for his command.

The Departments were closed at noon in honor of the day.

The South Carolina murder committee has reported, strongly questioning the action of Judge Hall, who released the alleged murderers. The report asserts that O. H. Browning, for a thousand dollar fee, made an argument before the President, urging that the prisoners be brought within reach of the habeas corpus of the Northern courts. The Committee makes the following deductions from the evidence of Gen. Schofield, Thomas, Wood and Baird. That the punishment of crime upon soldiers, union men and freedmen, cannot be relied upon in their departments. Neither the magistrates, or the jurors are disposed to do their duty, in this respect. There is no change for the better, but for the worse. The committee suggests military trials as the only practical cure for the alleged evil.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.

In the Senate, Mr. Yates presented the petition of 4,000 citizens of Charleston, asking for a territorial government.

The bill extending the Agricultural College scrip to Tennessee was passed. The House amendment, forbidding Confederate professors, was stricken out.

The Speaker directed the Doorkeeper to exclude from the floor all but privileged persons.

The bill suspending temporally the direct taxes in West Virginia passed.

A committee of conference was appointed on West Point.

The Senate's amendment to the appropriation bill to pay Harvey at Libson was rejected, and a conference committee appointed.

The bill retiring contractors for war vessels passed.

WE OFFER TO THE PUBLIC THIS CELEBRATED Oil, and in doing so we unhesitatingly pronounce it SUPERIOR TO ANY BURNING OIL IN USE. It is Non-Explosive. Free from Grease. It will not grease the hands. It will not soil or grease the clothing. It is more brilliant than Gas. It produces a soft and beautiful light. It is not so trying to the eyes. It can be used in any Kerosene Lamp by adopting our LIGHT HOUSE OR RACTCHET BURNERS.

It has been most favorably received, and pronounced by judges to be the

THE BEST AND MOST RELIABLE OIL

now in the market; and in consequence of the many serious accidents arising from the EXPLOSION OF KEROSENE, this Oil is extensively known and used in preference.

We are now prepared to furnish the trade with this valuable Oil, and we solicit from the public an examination and trial.

We have on hand a large stock of

and can supply the trade on liberal terms.

First Premium Awarded at the Louisiana State Fair held in New Orleans, from Nov. 20th, to 27th, 1866, against all Competitors.

This old established MANURE is manufactured from Bones that have not been burned or steamed, and it contains all their original organic matter. Previous to 1861 it was introduced into the Southern States to considerable extent, and again in 1865, where it has been used with remarkable success upon Cotton, Corn, Tobacco, and all Crops.

A trial will convince any planter of its merits.—Pamphlets containing well-known Southern evidence furnished upon application to New York or Philadelphia offices.

FERTILIZERS FOR SPRING CROPS.

WE beg to inform the trade and planters of North Carolina and Virginia, that we are prepared to furnish them with the most approved FERTILIZERS, on the most accommodating terms. We will have a stock of genuine PERUVIAN GUANO, purchased direct from the Agent of the Peruvian Government

We have now in store, for immediate delivery, 325 tons BRADLEY'S SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which won for itself such an enviable reputation in the Cotton and Tobacco counties of North Carolina and Virginia, last season, proving itself equal, and in many important respects, superior to the Peruvian Guano. We give an analysis of it as ascertained by Dr. Hayes, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country:

Results of Analyses Made of Bradley's Patent Super-Phosphate of Lime, as now sold by Wm. L. Bradley.

100 Parts Consist of
Moisture	5.30
Prepared animal matter, salts of Ammonia, fatty substances and Humus	38.50
Bone Phosphates of Lime, Magnesia and Iron	36.80
(Soluble Phosphates of do. 16 6-10.)
Sulphate of Lime	16.50
Salts	20
Insoluble	2.60
	99.90

The animal matter afforded 4 2-10 parts of Ammonia when it was decomposed, and, as will be seen, nearly one-half of the Bone Phosphate is soluble.

After many analyses of your Super-Phosphate of Lime, made during the last few months, I have found your standard of quality full equal to that of any you have ever sold in former years; and I am satisfied that you include the correct principles in the manufacture. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

We refer to the following gentlemen who tested its merits last season:

LIFE INSURANCE.

MANY insure their lives because they see the folly of neglecting to do so. Many who do not insure argue that it is folly to insure. Which is right? If those who do not insure can cite instances of the harm done by a policy of life Insurance, if they can point out men who have lost $5,000 to $100,000 by Life Insurance, then upon proof of same, we must believe them. Hundreds of instances can readily be shown where parties have been benefitted to this extent.—In North Carolina there are some Widows and Children ready to testify to the good resulting from a life Insurance on their only earthly dependence.

The "Etna Life Co., in loosing $25,000 the past year has relieved want—and now with over $4,000,000 of assets—offers sure protection to all those who will avail themselves of her liberal terms, by calling on 1867. "THE WORLD" 1867.

THE ATTENTION OF THE PUBLIC IS INVITED to the claims of "THE WORLD" as one of the leading public Journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merit consists in its character as An enterprising and Trustworthy Newspaper.

The next year bids fair to be a more critical one in the history of our free institutions, than even any of the eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requisite for an intelligent judgment of public affairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These THE WORLD always aims to give with conscientious accuracy, and with equal fullness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interest, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of THE WORLD for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy, and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. THE WORLD will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. THE WORLD adopts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance.
